

Jeanna is transitioning to First Tee — Triangle from a career as a Healthful Living Teacher. She earned her degree in Kinesiology with a minor in Health Policy and Administration from Penn State University. Working in a variety of youth summer camps is what fostered her desire to serve children. She taught K-12 Health and Physical Education in Baltimore City before moving farther south to reach in the Triangle. After teaching several of First Tee — Triangle programs and witnessing the positive impact they had on the young golfers, she decided to join the team full-time with the hope and goal of contributing even more to support their growth. Outside of work, Jeanna loves to cook, read, travel, and play board games with her daughter, Ellie.
